CIRUFC confirms that it adheres to the Rugby Football Union's (RFU) Safeguarding Policy and Procedures, practices and guidelines and endorses and adopts the Policy Statement contained in that document.

A child is anyone under the age of 18 engaged in any rugby union activity. However, where a 17-year-old male player is playing in the adult game it is essential that every reasonable precaution is taken to ensure their safety and well-being are protected.

Key Principles of the RFU Safeguarding Children & Vulnerable Adult Policy are:

- The welfare of the child or vulnerable adult is, and must always be paramount to any other considerations.
- All participants regardless of age, gender, ability or disability, race, faith, culture, size, shape, language, sexual identity have the right to protection from abuse or harm.
- All allegations or suspicions of abuse, neglect, harm and poor practice will be taken seriously and responded to swiftly, fairly and appropriately.
- Working in partnership with other organizations, statutory agencies, parents, carers, children and young people is essential for the welfare of children and young people.
- Children have the right to expect support and personal and social development delivered by an appropriately recruited, vetted and managed in relation to their participation in rugby union, whether they are playing, volunteering or officiating in the community or professional areas of the sport.

Canvey Island Rugby Union Football Club recognises that all children, irrespective of age, gender, ability, race, religion, ethnic origin, colour, nationality or sexual orientation, have the right to participate in sport in a safe, positive and enjoyable environment whilst at the same time being protected from abuse, neglect and harm or poor practice. Websites:

There are two key areas:

- Abusive or inappropriate content (photos, videos or texts), on the club website or linked sites, this includes adverts, especially from Google or other sponsored links.

- The disclosing of personal information about a child to people accessing the website. This could be the child's full name, address or any information about a child's life.

CIRUFC undertake to maintain control and avoid misuse of any photographic images. Care should be taken when considering how a photo/video could be used or misused. The issue of control and release into the public domain of any image must be considered before release.

Mobile and online communication with children:

CIRUFC undertake to follow the recommendations of the cyber guidance section of the RFU Safeguarding Toolkit. It is recommended that:

- When communicating by phone, where possible club officials and coaches should speak to a parent of the child.
- Club officials and coaches should not communicate with individual children by text or online at any time on any matter unless there is an immediate risk to the welfare of the child which can be lessened by such contact.
- If club officials or coaches need to communicate club related information to children Messages relating to children, sent via telephone, emails and texts, should be through their parents/guardians. Where appropriate, Direct personal communication with children should be avoided at all times, unless there are exceptional circumstances
- Coaches and club officials should not communicate with children through social networking sites such as Facebook. Coaches should not be 'friends' with the children they coach and they should not comment on their status.

In all cases the above guidelines should be considered when determining the most appropriate method of communication in any given circumstance.
